

Scientific Argumentation in Research Papers

A 4-day course presented by Sandra J. Oster, PhD, Discourse Linguist
Oregon Health & Science University - OGI School of Science & Engineering - Beaverton, OR, USA

November 6th to November 9th, 2006
DEIS - Università di Bologna
Viale Risorgimento, 2 – 40136 Bologna

Schedule

Nov 6, Mon	Nov 7, Tues	Nov 8, Wed	Nov 9, Thurs
	9:15-10:45 The Introduction Section and Scientific Argumentation 10:45-11 Break 11:00-12:30 The Introduction Section and Scientific Argumentation	9:15-10:45 Methods 10:45-11:00 Break 11:-12:30 Methods & Visuals	9:15-10:45 Results & Visuals 10:45-11:00 Break 11:00-12:30 Discussion/Conclusion
Lunch 12:30-2:15
2:15-3:45 Introduction to Seminar Series, English for Science and Technology	2:15-3:45 The Introduction Section and Scientific Argumentation	2:15-3:45 Results & Visuals	2:15-3:45 Discussion/Conclusion Abstract
3:45-4:00 Break	3:45-4:00 Break	3:45-4:00 Break	3:45-4:00 Break
4:00-5:30 Analysis of pre-submitted work in terms of EST	4:00-5:30 Analysis of pre-submitted work in terms of Introduction Section/Scientific Argumentation	4:00-5:30 Analysis of pre-submitted work in terms of Methods, Visuals, and Results	4:00-5:30 Analysis of pre-submitted work in terms of Results, Visuals, and Discussion/Ending

Note:

1. Registration Fee is 350 Euro. (200 Euros for the students of the Scuola di Dottorato in Scienza ed Ingegneria dell'Informazione)
2. Number of participants is limited to allow a more direct interaction with the speaker. Applications will be treated in order of receipt. Current interest levels suggest that the course will be fully booked, so early registration is recommended.
3. Registration is now open. To register contact: Marco Dozza at 051 2093067 (mdozza@deis.unibo.it).
4. Lectures and course materials will be in English and are included in the registration fee.
5. Dr. Oster will hold public and private sessions to analyze and to edit your own manuscripts.
6. Please send your manuscripts to mdozza@deis.unibo.it by October 15th to facilitate Sandra Oster's editing.
7. No lunch or coffee breaks are included in the registration fee.